

Shelby Price

KITCHEN DESIGNER

Originally from Austin, TX and a member of Team Hancock since 2022, Shelby has always been an artist. During her studies at the Maryland Institute College of Art, she was fascinated by the ways in which objects and space influence behavior. She spent years working in fabrication shops, honing her skills in metalwork, finishing and installation. She's worked on projects ranging from enrichment design for chimpanzees to steel casework for local breweries. Outside of work, Shelby continues her art practice and spends time with friends, her partner, and her two Xoloitzcuintles.

"Being able to combine my creative skills and technical expertise to design kitchens that are both beautiful and functional is so rewarding. I love connecting with customers and making their visions become reality throughout this complex process."
