

Carley Bois

KITCHEN DESIGNER

Carley has been designing kitchens since 2019. She started doing kitchen design while in high school as part of a paid internship. From her youth onward, Carley has wanted a career in some part the design industry. The internship experience proved to be life changing, leading her into an an exciting career field that is full of challenges and rewards. Carley tackles projects of all sizes, ranging from remodels to new builds or commercial jobs.

“The kitchen is the most special part of a home and where a lot of memories are made. Being able to be a part of that and make someone’s dreams a reality is one of my favorite things about being a kitchen designer.”
