

Marissa Lada

KITCHEN DESIGNER

Marissa discovered her passion for design early on and has over a decade of work experience as a professional Interior Designer. She spent the majority of her early career in the Pacific Northwest, working on a variety of residential and commercial projects, ranging in scope and size.

She believes in the power that built spaces have to impact our health and well-being and strives to improve her client's experiences throughout their environment. Marissa enjoys tailoring every space to the unique lifestyle and aesthetic needs of her clients—grounded in a holistically-thought-out design.

In her free time, Marissa enjoys immersing herself in the great outdoors, exploring new scenery, and diving into the newest hobby/craft she's acquired.

"I believe that your space should allow you to function and feel your best. It's my goal to help each client to get there."
